

The Great Big Fat Forever

Tired of the same old, same old? Looking for an escape from the drudgery of existence? Sick of dashed hopes, shattered dreams, broken promises? Do you find life some days just too tough to handle? Are you sick of the mundanity of those repeating days? That day after day after day after day that is exactly same as the day before the day after the days to come and the days gone by? Then fear not, as Death is there exclusively for you, the Living. Your constant companion. Is Death. The great imponderable. The unquantifiable. The inevitable. Death. The magnificent unknown. That riddle wrapped in a mystery inside an enigma sealed in a conundrum contained in a paradox presented as a puzzle. Death. Is yours. For FREE, FREE, FREE! Death. The great leveler. The great beyond. The great big fat forever. All yours and only yours at the drop of a hat. The drop off a cliff. The wrong turn. The bad apple. The loaded shot glass. The loaded shotgun. The deadly snake. The vengeful lover. The bad habit shadow. The old clock beyond repair. The last chance. The last gasp. For nothing lasts quite like nothing. Nothing. Quite like Death.